

Thinking from a different mindset to face climate change

Finding solutions to the climate change crisis implies changing mindsets regarding lifestyle, technology, negotiations. How to recognise that our preferences, emotions and behaviours shape our actions?

How can we do this and be in tune with the necessities and responsibilities of our time?

Panelists:

Dr. Katie Mach, Science Director of the IPCC
Working Group II Technical Support Unit

Francois Becher, Coordinator of the Brahma Kumaris in France

Dr. Nigel Crawhall, International Network of Engaged Buddhists

Golo Pilz, Advisor Renewable Energy, Brahma Kumaris

Lindsey Fielder Cook, Representative on Climate Change, Quaker UN Office, Geneva

Moderator: Valeriane Bernard, Brahma Kumaris in Geneva, UN Representative

Bonn during the SB 42

Tuesday 2 June 2015

in Bonn III (72) 15.00 to 16.30

www.environment.brahmakumaris.org